Title: Food Adulteration and Public Health: Legal Remedies and Enforcement Challenges

The College is pleased to announce an upcoming Live Webinar for students of LL.B. and B.A. LL.B.

Food is a basic necessity of life, and its safety is essential for the protection of public health. However, food adulteration and the sale of unsafe food products continue to pose serious challenges to society. Such practices not only endanger human health but also raise important legal concerns relating to consumer rights, regulatory accountability, and criminal liability.

This webinar aims to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the legal framework governing food safety in India, with particular reference to the Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006 and the Consumer Protection Act, 2019. The discussion will cover the role and responsibilities of the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI), the legal remedies available to consumers, the liabilities of food business operators, and the challenges faced by enforcement authorities in preventing and controlling food adulteration.

The session will also highlight the impact of food adulteration on public health, relevant legal provisions, practical examples, and the importance of effective implementation of food safety laws to protect consumer interests and promote a healthier society.
